Re: Article Title; Journal Title

Congratulations on the recent acceptance of your manuscript submission to Journal Title. The Taylor & Francis production team will work with you to publish your article online as quickly as possible.

We would like to let you know that your institution has an open access agreement with Taylor & Francis, which means you may be eligible for funding to publish your article open access. We have let them know that your paper has been accepted and shared your article information, including your email address.

What happens next?

It's important to know that not all articles will be eligible for funding under this agreement, so please click here to view the latest information.

If your institution approves open access funding for your article, we will let you know. You may also request approval by selecting the open access option.

Look out for an email inviting you to select and sign your article publishing agreement.

If you have any questions, please do not hesitate to contact apc@tandf.co.uk, or your librarian.

Kind regards,

Mark Robinson

Dear Author First Name Last Name,

Re: Article Title; Journal Title

We recently emailed you to let you know that your institution has an open access agreement with Taylor & Francis. We're pleased to let you know that your library has approved Gold Open Access funding for your article through their Research Dashboard.

This means that your article will be published open access; it will be available online for anyone to read, anywhere.

What happens next?

If you have already signed an open access publishing agreement, you don't need to do anything.

If you have not yet signed a publishing agreement, or have already signed a non-open access publishing agreement, then you will receive an email asking you to sign a new publishing agreement. You will be asked to choose a Creative Commons licence, you can find more information about licence choice here. <http://authorservices.taylorandfrancis.com/publishing-agreements-your-options>. Please note that this can take 24 to 48 hours to reach you.

You will not be asked for any payment.

If you have any queries, please contact apc@tandf.co.uk

Best wishes,

We sent the information about your article and funding onto your Organization's Open Access team to review.

Unfortunately, your request for this article has been declined. I am happy to say there are still options available to you to make your article Open Access if you are still interested.

You can make your final article Open Access through payment of a charge (Gold) or you can archive an earlier version of your article without any charge to you (Green). For the Gold option, you can pay the article publishing charge (APC) yourself or via another funder or source. Please find a revised APC quote attached, if you would like to choose this option please complete the quote here

Create a new quote | Re-request funding from my organization

For the Green option, you don't need to complete a quote. Your work will be published without charge in the journal and you can choose to make your Accepted Manuscript (AM) freely available by posting it online. Visit our Author Services site to find out more.

If you have any further questions, please do not hesitate to contact us.
